

P. B. Rao

Received B.Sc(Hons) Physics (1958), M.Sc. Radio Physics (1959) and Ph.D. Ionospheric Physics (1963) all from Andhra University, Waltair, India. Worked as Research Associate - Electrosience Laboratory, Ohio State University :1964 – 65 and National Center for Ionosphere and Astronomy, Cornell University :1965 – 68 ; Senior Scientist - Sudbury Laboratory, Raytheon Company :1968 – 1975 ; Professor - Space Physics & Electronics, Kerala University, India : 1976 - 90 ; Director - National MST Radar facility, Department of Space :1990 – 98. Continues with Department of Space as Visiting Professor since retirement in 1998; Published more than 120 papers in Space & Atmospheric Sciences; Served on several national committees, including that of URSI and COSPAR ; Elected to Indian Academy of Science: 1996 and Currently serving as Vice-Chairman – Advisory Committee for Space Sciences of Department of Space.